

Integrating Health Care and Social Care: professional development for health and social care assistants

25th February 2016, 9.30am – 3.30pm

Assembly Rooms, Fenkle Street, Newcastle upon Tyne, NE1 5XU

The Bridges to Learning Partnership is holding a professional development conference for health and social care assistants in the Northern Region.

This will be a great opportunity for staff to learn about current issues affecting their jobs. They will also learn about the topical integration of healthcare and social care and how they can contribute to the resulting improved outcomes for health and social care service users.

There will be keynote addresses from Christina McAnea, UNISON's Head of Health and also from Mark Kirkpatrick, who is the Project Lead for the Integrated Care Hub on the South Tyneside District General Hospital site. There will be a further presentation from Dave Anderson MP, who is the primary sponsor of an Early Day Motion in Parliament calling for One Team for our NHS in support of health and social care support staff. Dave is also the MP for Blaydon.

The conference is FREE to UNISON members, Non-members welcome, Cost £10 payable on the day.
